REFUSES TO GIVE HIS TESTIMONY

W. J. Henley, Formerly of This City, Will Not go Before the Grand Jury.

IN RAILROAD BRIBERY CASE

Said he Was Tired of Place and he Wanted to Get Back to Practice of Law.

Concerning the recent railroad scandal, in which W. J. Henley, formerly of this city, resigned as president of the road, a dispatch in the Indianapolis News from Chicago says:

The Chicago & Western Indiana railroad scandal was presented to the special grand jury today by State's Attorney Wayman. It was said that fresh documentary evidence of bribery of a positive character had been obtained and that the entire affair, which involves the alleged use of $212,000 for the buying of municipal and State legislation favorable to the interests of the railroad would be thoroughly aired.

The prosecutor's efforts, perhaps, were embarrassed to a certain extent by the refusal of W. J. Henley, who was general solicitor of the Chicago & Western Indiana road when the alleged bribery took place, to testify.

A staff correspondent of the Tribune saw Mr. Henley yesterday in Indianapolis, where he has lived since he resigned from the presidency of the railroad when the Fetzer scandal first became public. Mr. Henley, in answer to the question why he resigned, said that he stepped down and out merely to give way to a practical railroad man, H. G. Hetzler of the Metropolitan Elevated.

He was tired of the place, he said, and wished to get back to the practice of law. He said that he did not ever personally spend or authorize Fetzer or any one else to spend money to influence municipal, State or federal legislation. If there was ever any wrong done, Judge Henley said he was kept in absolute ignorance of it. He had not been subpoenaed as a witness before the grand jury in Chicago, and could not be legally taken there, he said, because he was a resident of Indiana. Nevertheless he would not depart from Indianapolis to evade possible attempts to induce him to testify.

COURT FINDS FOR DEFENDANTS

Special Judge Brown of Indianapolis Returns Decision in I. & C. vs. Kramer et al. Case.

FILED SUIT ON A CONTRACT

Eleven Defendants Who Enter Plea on Public Policy Are Victorious—Finding Against Others.

Special Judge Brown of Indianapolis today returned a decision in the case of the I. & C. vs. Harry Kramer et al. on a contract, which has been in the courts for several months, finding for the defendants. Eleven of the defendants, who retained Douglas Morris as their attorney, were freed from the contract and judgment was returned against the remaining number for $348.

When Rushville was considered as a location for the I. & C. car barns and power house, a bonus was offered by the local citizens. A large amount of money was raised by subscription and still a portion remained which was necessary to make up the necessary amount to locate the barns. Several men signed their names to a contract to make up the deficiency.

When the time came for making up the deficiency, it was found to be much larger than they had anticipated and refused to pay. The traction company sued on the contract for the remaining sum of money. The case has been in the courts several terms. Last term it was heard by Special Judge Brown of Indianapolis and he today returned his decision.

He found for the eleven men, defended by Douglas Morris, who entered the plea that his clients could not be held responsible on the grounds of public policy. The other defendants lost the case and the court returned judgment against them for about $348. The defendants who won in the suit were: Harry Kramer, Hargrove & Mullin, George W. Osborne, Ed Tyner, Will S. Meredith, Hiner & Davis, Ned Abercrombie, J. K. Jamieson, William B. Poe & Son, John Madden and Rufus P. Havens.

She was eighty-three years old and had been in very poor health for the past few years. She had been afflicted with paralysis for a number of years and her death was not unexpected.

Mrs. Frazee was born in Maryland January 20, 1827, and would have been eighty-four years ald her next birthday. She was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Austin and came here with her parents while still young. She had spent most of her life in the vicinity of Rush county.

She has never been able to sit up in bed yet and lays in a semi-conscious state. It is not certain yet as to whether or not she will recover. The physicians are at a loss to know.

Miss Grace Frazier, the other victim of the accident, is fast recovering and was removed to her home in Center township Saturday evening. Since the accident she has been under the care of a physician at the home of a relative in Dunreith near the place where the accident occurred. It was thought for a time that she was seriously injured.

DEDICATECHURCH FREE FROM DEBT

Christian Congregation at Arlington Takes Charge of New and Modern Edifice.

AN IMMENSE CROWD ATTENDS

Appropriate Dedicatory Sermon Was Preached by the Rev. E. S. Conner.

Over two hundred people from this city went to Arlington yesterday afternoon to attend the dedication of the new Christian church, which was completed only a few weeks ago. The exercises were very appropriate and were attended by an immense crowd. People flocked in from all parts of Rush county and many people from Indianapolis and Greenfield were present.

The dedicatory sermon was preached by the Rev. E. S. Conner, who was formerly pastor of the Christian church in Greenfield. His sermon was very much appreciated by all those who could hear him. The crowd was so large that it was impossible for every one to be seated in the immense auditorium, and people crowded out into the street and around the doors.

The unusual thing about the dedication yesterday was the fact that not one cent was asked to pay for the new church. It is generally the custom to build churches and then much depends on the dedicatory services, at which it is expected a portion of the money can be raised. But the service yesterday was entirely free from that, as all of the subscriptions have been raised and the structure was paid for before it was completed. The congregation took charge of the handsome structure yesterday entirely free from debt.

The new church is a very modern structure with all of the up-to-date improvements found on buildings today. The Sunday school room may be shut off from the main auditorium, but when the two are combined, it makes a large room which will seat nearly one thousand people. The exterior of the structure is also very pleasing in appearance and was very favorably commented on yesterday by the host of visitors. The interior of the church is very tastefully decorated.

ILLINOIS WILL INVESTIGATE IT

Boodle Cloud Put on Senator Lorimer's Election.

REPRESENTATIVE WAS BRIBED

At Least a Sworn Statement to That Effect Has Been Made by Representative Charles A. White of the Illinois Assembly, Who Sets Out Names and Circumstances in Such a Way That the State Will Investigate.

Chicago, May 2.—State's Attorney Wayman has begun an investigation into the charges of State Representative Charles A. White that he had been paid a bribe of $1,000 to vote for William Lorimer for United States senator. Representative White arranged to place all his evidence before the state official. Governor Deneen has taken under consideration a plan to call a special session of the general assembly to investigate the accusations of bribery of some of its members.

State's Attorney Wayman's decision to press a thorough investigation was in cognizance of the fact that the alleged payment of $900 of the $1,000 for White's vote was made by Minority Leader Lee O'Neil Browne at the Briggs House in Chicago, thus giving Chicago authorities jurisdiction. The state's attorney at Springfield also is investigating. The assertion that part of the money was paid at the state capital gives him the right to take official cognizance of the bribery charges.

Representative Browne hurried to Chicago from his residence in Ottawa and went to the Briggs House, where it was said he had a secret conference with Representative Robert E. Wilson, named in White's confession as the person who "cut up the legislative jackpot" in the Southern hotel at St. Louis. Out of this jackpot, White says, he was given an additional $900. Browne denied, however, that he had met Wilson.

From Washington have come dispatches indicating that the United State senate might direct an inquiry into the accusations affecting the election of one of their own members, the junior senator from Illinois.

The Chicago Tribune has been working for three weeks seeking further light on the astounding legislative bribery charges made by Representative Charles A. White of St. Clair county and published in that paper. Aside from White's statement that he received $1,000 from Lee O'Neil Browne, Democratic leader of the legislature, in payment for his vote for William E. Lorimer for United States senator, White gave details of how he was paid $900 out of the legislative "jackpot" on July 15, 1909, in the Southern hotel, St. Louis. He says Robert E. Wilson of Chicago summoned him there and paid the money to him.

In relating his charge, White says that four other Democratic members of the general assembly met in the Southern hotel with Wilson and himself. He says they were Joseph S. Clark, Vandalia; Michael S. Link, Mitchell; Charles S. Luke (now dead), Nashville; Henry S. Shepard, Jerseyville. Also White says he met Representative H. J. C. Beckmeyer of Carlyle while in St. Louis on the same trip, and charges that they also received part of the alleged boodle divided at that time by "Bob" Wilson.

According to Browne, White was formerly a streetcar conductor at East St. Louis, and later appeared at Springfield as a lobbyist in favor of labor bills. Then he was elected to the lower house. White, in his charges, states that the public might expect to hear him called a blackmailer, but that he was prepared for that; he was willing to suffer ignominy in order to expose the corruption which he declared exists at Springfield.

State's Attorney Wayman will bring Representative Charles White before the special grand jury to repeat his confession, and the public prosecutor also intimates that in the near future the down-state legislators who were mentioned by White in his charges will appear before the special inquisitorial body. The legislative bribery scandal will be given the right of way and before the special grand jury gets through its work White's astounding statement will be investigated to the bottom. After White is through at the criminal cour building in Chicago the Sangamon county authorities will seek to bring him before the grand jury at Springfield. If he repeats the confession he made to State's Attorney Wayman before the Sangamon county jurors, State's Attorney Burke declares that he will be indicted and prosecuted forthwith, no matter what assurances of immunity he may have from prosecution in Cook county.

Gumption On The Farm

From May Farm Journal.

Be prompt at meals.

Is the mower ready?

Cold wet May—barn full of hay.

Don't slight the corn—corn is King.

A field is not fenced when the bars are down.

Don't put away steel tools wet; dry them first, then oil them.

Lift up your eyes occasionally. All good things aren't in the furrows.

If you think nobody cares for you, have a carbunkle on the back of your neck.

The boy smokes cigarettes behind the barn because dad smokes cigars in the open.

Never lead a colt at the end of a long strap. Men have been killed this way.

Cut your clover while it is in the bloom. Dead-ripe clover is just about spoiled so far as feed is concerned.

Wood ashes or lime should not be applied mixed with, or in direct contact with stable or hen manure.

Don't throw out apples, potatoes or turnips where stock can get them, and choke. Either bury or slice them.

After all it is the producing power of the farm that determines the boy in his going or staying. Show him that there's money in it, and he will stick to the old farm like a sandbur to a sheep's tail.

Don't let the back step be unsightly with swill pails, cat dishes and hen food, thus strewing food and attracting flies and disease. Cart away all the old cans, broken dishes, old coats and boots, from back places and yards.

On some soils it does not pay to plow too deep. For instance, take it where the plowpoint strikes hardpan; no use to pull the horses to death and tire ourselves all out to bring that to the surface. It is not worth while after we have done it.

Here is the most approved method of treating seed potatoes to prevent a scabby crop: Soak the whole seed for two hours in a mixture of one-half pint of formalin (often called formaldehyde) and fifteen gallons of cold water; dry the seed, cut, and plant in ground that has not recently grown potatoes.

Must the horse go? is the anxious query of the Illinois Farmer. To be sure he must go, and the faster the better. Who wants a horse that does not go? In these automobile speed days the faster the horse can go the better we like him, and soon nobody will be satisfied with less than a two-minute clip.

Probably not one farmer in a thousand ever took his mowing machine guards out and ground them on the cutting edge. Look at them and see how dull they are. Some day before haying, when you have a little time, just take them all out and sharpen them. You have no idea how much better they will work. The machine will cut almost like a new one.

Tarring corn: In coating seed corn with coal-tar as a protection against crows and blackbirds, put the grain into a pail and pour on enough warm water to cover it. Add a teaspoonful of tar to a peck, and stir well. Throw the corn out on a sieve or in a basket to drain, and then stir in a few handfuls of land plaster (gypsum). Do not pour the tar on the dry seed.

Sometimes folks get a good many irons in the fire at the same time in spite of themselves. Jobs come thick and fast, some days. The best way to do, then, is to keep calm and go straight ahead—doing all the little things that lie in one part of the farm when you are in that locality, and then go on to something else. Finish what you have on hand. Time brings all out right to the man who works this way.

WOMANLY WISDOM.

(From May Farm Journal.)

Do not forget to congratulate mother on her birthday.

Equal parts of skimmed milk and water, warmed, will remove fly specks from varnished woodwork or furniture.

Don't see why the oven doesn't bake good? Just scrape the soot and ashes out from under it and you will get an eyeopener on that subject.

Mattresses will wear better and be more easily handled if made in three pieces of equal size, two to lie lengthwise and one across. The wear can be distributed evenly, and they are especially convenient in case of illness, as they are easily moved and aired.

Blessings on his wife who sits down without a bit of grumbling and mends all holes in the socks of the entire family every week. Every week, mind you! If she did not there would soon be nothing but one great big hole to tackle, and that would mean money for new pairs.

Th prudent young man who is looking for a wife who will "wear well," takes note of the appearance of her mother. If she is neat and trim, and looks as if she had help with the work and kindly and loving care, he may safely infer that her daughter will make a good wife.

People who throw away oatmeal or any other breakfast cereal, are throwing good money to the hens and losing the basis for the best gems they ever ate. You don't need a certain measure of cereal for the gems. Take your regular receipt and let the cereal take the place of part of the flour. You'll be glad.

Unless especially directed to the contrary by the physician, all medicines which are swallowed in tablet or pill form should be immediately followed by a dring of some liquid, as water, milk, tea, etc. Concentrated medicines if allowed to dissolve in close contact with the walls of the stomach often irritate the organ.

All about this May weather are thousands of bird babies. Every apple and pear tree, every shade tree, is a nursery; the vine on our poarch, the barn eaves, the grass in the meadow, each has its hidden nestful. Their mission is one not only of joy and music but of economic value. Blessings on the bird babies! May their tribe increase!

Fill an old can of any kind with ashes, then pour in sufficient kerosene to saturate the ashes, and put the can in a safe place away from fire. A tablespoonful is plenty to keep a blaze till the wood is caught, and it is worth all the patent firekindlers. There is absolutely no danger, and by keeping a supply always made up the children will not be tempted to use the kerosene can with the too often fatal results.

When wishing a new and inexpensive dish, try browned rice, either as a cereal with cream or as a vegetable with butter or tomato sauce. Brown the dry kernels in the oven until they are the color of ripe wheat and put them away to cook when convenient. A cup of these with two cupfuls of hot water and half a teaspoonful of salt can be steamed in the top of a double boiler in forty minutes. Then the rice should be dry and light, although the kernels will not remain whole.

An easy way to make soap: For five pounds of fat drippings (cleaned and clarified by boiling it up with water and when cold taking it off in a solid cake) use a can of lye, five cents worth of borax (a half pound) and two cents worth of ammonia. Dilute the lye with six cupfuls of cold water. When thoroughly dissolved add the borax and ammonia and stir in slowly the fat, melted but not hot. Stir for eight minutes, when it should look like honey. Have ready a large box, wooden or pasteboard. Pour the soap into it and, when set firmly, cut into cakes and put away to harden.

Anti-Trust League Goes After Govenor Hughes.

TO TAKE IT UP WITH SENATE

It Is Charged by the American Anti-Trust League That Gov. Hughes Is Predisposed Toward Corporate Interests and That His Confirmation as Supreme Court Judge Would Be Detrimental to Public Welfare.

Washington, May 2.—The American Anti-Trust League, an organization that has its knife out at all hours of the day and night for all forms of monopoly, will protest to the senate judiciary committee against the confirmation of Governor Hughes to be an associate justice of the supreme court. The league has made public the petition which it will present to the senate committee. In it they charge that Governor Hughes is predisposed toward corporate interests and assert that his confirmation would be detrimental to the welfare of the people of the United States. With the exception of William Jennings Bryan, the American Anti-Trust League's voice is the first one that has been raised against Governor Hughes's appointment.

THE SNEAD CASE

Federal Judge Lanning Dismisses Habeas Corpus Suit.

Trenton, N. J., May 2.—Judge Lanning has dismissed in the United States circuit court the habeas corpus proceedings under which it was sought to secure the release from custody of Mrs. Mary W. Snead, indicted with her two sisters for the murder of her niece, Ocey Wardlaw Snead, the East Orange bathtub victim. The court ordered that Mrs. Snead be remanded to the custody of the sheriff of Essex county to be held by him pending the result of the trial which is set down for next month. Counsel for Mrs. Snead contended when the writ was argued that she was detained illegally; that her extradition from New York was obtained through false pretenses to Gov. Fort and Gov. Hughes.

INDIANA TO BE STORM CENTER

Politics Promises to be Very Much to the Fore.

BOTH ROOSEVELT AND BRYAN

Republicans Are Expecting the Aid of Former President Roosevelt in Behalf of Senator Beveridge, While the Democrats Will Ask Mr. Bryan to Come Over and Lend a Hand in Mr. Kern's Behalf.

Indianapolis, May 2.—Chairman U. S. Jackson of the Democratic state central committee will write to William J. Bryan this week, asking him what time he can devote to the Indiana campaign, and if it will be possible for him to stay in the state one month. The committee wants Bryan to speak in every congressional district. The Democratic leaders say that John W. Kern bore the brunt of the campaign two years ago in Bryan's fight for the presidency and that it is no more than fair that Bryan should give at least one month of his time this year to the Indiana campaign, and if he will do so the committee will arrange for special trains at low rates of fare to be run from all parts of each district to the place of speaking and give Bryan larger crowds than he ever had in the state. It is understood that former President Roosevelt will make two speeches for Beveridge, and the Democrats would like to have Bryan in the state when Roosevelt comes. They believe that the Nebraskan can do more than any other Democrat in the country to counteract what the former president may succeed in doing for Beveridge.

Jeffersonville, Ind., May 2.—After a man-hunt lasting three weeks, James Lacey, wanted in Carroll county, Kentucky, on a murder charge, was arrested near here by a deputy sheriff from that county. THIS MAINE TABBY HOLDS THE RECORD

Remarkable Exploit of a Waterville Cat.

Waterville, Me., May 2.—Eighty miles in two days and nights, half the distance carrying a four-weeks'-old kitten, is the world's record for lady cats set by an athletic tabby belonging to Mrs. Ann Grant of Waterville. Careful search of the athletic records shows that several gentleman cats have bettered this time for the distance, and that some who have been overcome by the wunderlust have walked farther, but these feline Westons carried no weight and their training was not done in a box a foot long.

The Grants moved from Stetson to Waterville, forty miles away. Not wanting to be bothered with a month-old kitten, Mrs. Grant gave it to a neighbor. Then the mother cat was shut in a box and carried to the new home here, after mewing in vain to have her baby taken with her. When the family arrived here it was dark, but the cat, as soon as she could escape from the house, started for Stetson. Two nights later she walked into the house in Waterville with her kitten.

KISSES NOT HURTFUL

That Microbe Theory Upset by a Harvard Scientist.

Cambridge, Mass., May 2.—Dr. A. M. Worthington of the Harvard medical school, in a lecture on "The Healthy Man and His Bacteria," opposed the views of other savants and doctors who declare osculation a method of generating germs and developing illness. He defended bacteria and said that the world devoid of microbes and germs would become lifeless. "The kiss is harmless," said Dr. Worthington. "There is every reason to believe that when two self-respecting, wholesome persons meet lip to lip, they may break away without upsetting the bacterial balance."

It may interest the denizens of these United States to learn that the head of the Moslem faith has sent an emisary to this country to investigate what the chances are for proselyting. The United States is a fertile field. No other country on the face of the earth has as many different religious sects, and in no other country is it so easy to establish one, no matter what its nature may be.

If anybody thinks that Hearst is playing the game of politics for any other purpose than to further his personal ambition, they would better hurry up and take another long think.

President Taft may think he is having a hard time, but if the statistics were available it would probably be developed that he doesn't have as many troubles in a month as Gov. Haskell of Oklahoma gets in before breakfast.

And now it's the picture shows that are causing all the trouble. At a meeting of farmers in Missouri it was declared that moving picture shows are responsible for the increased tide from farm toward city. They say it is practically impossible to obtain sufficient farm hands to till the soil, because they prefer jobs in town where they can see the picture shows. This is a pretty high compliment to the picture show.

Aeronautics are developing fast. Most of us don't realize the number of amateurs who are now using aeroplanes. There are well over 500 of them. Many of them are not reported. One of the greatest recent achievements was Louis Paulhan's flight from London to Manchester, 186 miles away, with but one stop and that not necessary. This shows that the flying machine is becoming a thing of reality and of practical value. Every one remembers the recent introduction of the automobile and how rapidly it developed. The aeroplane is making even faster strides than the automobile, and in the near future it will cease to be a novelty.

Socialism in Theory and in Practice.

(Richmond Item.)

The recent victory of the Social-Democratic party in Milwaukee brings the Socialist movement into the rank of political forces to be reckoned with seriously in the United States. It is the first political fruit of the unmistakable and rapid drift in that direction for the last few years. The victory seems quite as likely to retard as to hasten the progress of the movement, however. Heretofore the Socialists have been able to criticise existing political order without having to undertake the task of putting something better in its place. The movement has fed on discontent and on untried theorizing. But now the task of governing a modern city has been put upon its leaders in Milwaukee, and already they are feeling a new responsibility.

The party is pledged to the following reforms: Home rule for the city; the initiative and referendum; municipal ownership of public utilities; penny lunches; cheaper gas, electric light, ice wood and coal through municipal establishments and plans; trade union conditions of labor, including an eight-hour day; work for all unemployed under union conditions; three-cent fares on street cars; a seat for everyone who rides; street companies to sprinkle the streets; cheap bread, and so forth.

The Socialist leaders have begun already to caution their followers against expecting too speedy results, and to call their attention to the way the administration will be hampered by an antiquated charter, by franchises with years yet to run, and to complain that in a country still organized on a capitalistic basis, it is impossible for a single city to make rapid progress toward Socialism.

These considerations are true, and show that too much in the way of immediate results ought not to be asked of any reform party. The question that is confronting the leaders in Milwaukee is whether they can get on toward their ideals by a slow process of evolution, working out from our present social and political order toward their goal by a succession of gradual changes without arousing the impatient criticism of their adherents by the lack of immediate results.

Mr. Seidel went into power largely because of the disgust which the reform element in both Democratic and Republican parties felt at the abuses and incompetence of their organizations. He is likely to go out of power because of the disgust of his Socialist followers, because he does not bring in at once the Socialist millenium.

Peetz Renews Request

Armed with an opinion from Attorney General Bingham to the effect that the board must pay for the quarterly bulletins authorized by the acts establishing the Indiana Free Public Employment Bureau, says the Indianapolis Star, J. L. Peet, chief of the Bureau of Statistics, yesterday renewed his request for the printing, but the matter was laid on the table at the April session of the State Printing Board. When it will be taken up is not known.

At the meeting last month the board refused the request of Mr. Peetz on the ground that the law had made no specific provision for the printing of these bulletins.

The opinion of Attorney General Bingham is in part as follows:

When no appropriation has been made for the use of a State officer, institution or board with which to pay for printing, binding or stationary authorized by law, such printing, binding or stationary must be paid for out of the State printing fund. The General Assembly made no specific appropriation for the use of the Bureau of Statistics out of which the expenses of printing the required quarterly bulletin can be paid; therefore, it is my opinion that such expense must be paid out of the funds appropriated for the use of the commissioners of public printing, binding and stationery.

A request was received from Robert J. Aley, State superintendent of public instruction, asking that the board authorize 12,000 arbor and bird day annuals. The board took no action on the requests. The printing of the 1909 accident bulletin of the Railroad Commission of Indiana as a part of the current report was authorized.

While the action of W. S. Blatchley, State geologist, in making preparations to publish his treatise on the beetle, as a part of his office expenses, did not come before the board officially, there was some talk concerning it among the members. The board last month refused to allow the publication as a part of the official report of Mr. Blatchley, as it was doubted whether this line of research came within duties of his office.

Mr. Blatchley has announced he will have it printed under the provision of law which permits him to issue bulletins and pay for them out of money appropriated for the use of his office. It was questioned whether a treatise which consists of more than 1000 typewritten pages and will use a large number of cuts can be classed as a bulletin.

An Indiana convict is trying to get out of jail on account of a homesick poem. In and out of jail. Indiana people just can't help it—Milwaukee Sentinel.

The father of Booth Tarkington has written a novel, but Booth himself has become a farmer and is plowing for the gold in the land—Atlanta Constitution.

The Indianapolis woman who unearthed the coal frauds is Mrs. Stern. Indianapolis papers have facilities for scooping us on any comment we might make—Cleveland Leader.

"Taft trying to end Indiana pariy feud." Why not let it alone? "The quarrel is a very pretty quarrel as it stands." Mr. Taft will only spoil it by trying to explain it—Chicago Tribune.

It is to be feared that Mr. Beveridge will not take it as a compliment when he is suggested as the logical candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Beveridge may have stolen the administration smile, as the Washington Times is inclined to think, but if he has, he will have to pay heavily for his laugh—Richmond Times-Dispatch.

Population of Evansville, Ind., is reported to be sleeping twenty-four hours a day, and the blame for this drowsiness is put on the comet. Wonder what the comet will do in Philadelphia?—New York Herald.

Senator Beveridge, returning to Washington from Indianapolis, "was in a bouyant frame of mind and wore a broad smile." There is a great deal of the joy of life in being an insurgent on the right side—New York World.

Indiana Democrats evidently do not think their chances of beating Senator Beveridge are quite so good as Speaker Cannon represents. They probably would have preferred to try issues with him on a Cannon platform—Buffalo Express.

Listen, Girls

Stop a moment, my girl. I've just a few words I would say to you. I've known you for years—old friends, so to speak—and I think you will pardon these few words of advice.

I saw your mother trundle a baby carriage along the street just a few days ago, it seems. Then I saw you with books and tablet going back and forth to school, and now I see your mother has lengthened out your dress until it almost touches your shoe top. You've got a ribbon at you'r throat and a flower in your hair; you've dropped the playthings of your girlhood and you are watching out for the sterner things of life —in fact you are almost a woman.

And as I look into your sweet, girlish face, as yet unmarked and unmarred by the sins of this world, I want to tell you some things. The vultures of human character are flocking on the street corners; their black wings fan your innocent cheeks as you pass. God made them in the shape of men, but some-how or other the devil must have had charge of the soul factory when they were created, and your slightest act or word will be caught by these mortal vampires and woven into a web of slander that will blight your young life and darken your days. And remember, my girl, that a blot on your name, a stain on your character, can only be wiped out by the pat of the grave-diggers' shovel. And remember also, my girl, that it is these hu-human hyenas, these bone gnawers of women's morals, these flop-winged bats that gather on corners and crossings, that help to make public opinion—and an innocent, thoughtless act on your part is to them a murder of morals in the first degree.

Let me tell you what to do—make a "chum" out of your old mother. She may not know as much about Greek and Latin as you do, and possibly she didn't graduate and get a diploma and a box of white flowers at some college commencement, but she has forgotten more about the men and women of this world than you can get crammed into that little "nickle" head of yours in the next ten years. Within her arms you are safe, my girl; beyond them you are deadly peril. She is the best friend you will ever have, and her opinion on all subjects should be the supreme court decision of your life. And next Thursday night when the parlor is filled with your gay young friends, and song and laughter fills the air, I want you to steal away from your gay companions, go down into the family room, throw your arms about her shrunken form and say to her, "Mother, I love you best of all." And watch the color rush across her tired face, and the tears steal down her cheek. You had better do it, my girl, for some of these days six strong men with bare, bowed heads will tramp heavily through the hall, and a coffin with cold white handles will rest for a moment on the porch. As you stand by an open grave over on the hill the bitterest thought that will come to you in that awful hour will be that mother died and didn't know I loved her. And if you have never thrown any flowers in your mother's lap while living, don't act the hypocrites and go to her grave and snub around and cover it with roses. Leave her alone over there in the darkness and silence with only the night winds to chant the requim over her sleeping form. You stay away.

Run along now, my girl, and be good. That's all.

AMUSEMENTS

"A Daughter's Devotion" is the title of the film to be shown at the Vaudet tonight. It is a drama with a strong plot and an interesting story interwoven in it. As a special attraction, Baby Ruth in trick and acrobating roller skating will be on the program. She is nine years old and is said to be a very attractive feature. She does stunts on the skates which are impossible for older people. Earl Robertson will sing a new illustrated song.

The Star Grand presents tonight the great war drama entitled "Further Adventures of the Girl Spy." In their accounts of the battle of Olustee, sometimes called the Braddock's defeat of the Civil war, which ended so disastrously for the invading Unionists, historians have marveled how the Confederate army seemed to know and anticipate every move of the enemy. In the picture the players reproduce upon the same historical ground where it occurred the thrilling story of how the "Girl Spy" secured this information for the Confederates. Jesse Murphy will sing "The Spot That my Heart Calls Home."

PAPER FROM BEET PULP.

A recent report says that parties from Germany are preparing to establish a factory in Colorado for the purpose of manufacturing paper from beet pulp. It is further stated that paper is being made in Germany from beet pulp and that it is an established industry, no longer an experiment. If this information is correct it is important as it gives a new substance out of which to manufacture paper. With the decrease of timber and the increase in the price of paper, some substance has long been sought to supply the place of wood in its manufacture, and if beet pulp proves to be that substance it will indeed supply a "long felt want."

A Story of Graustark

By
GEORGE BARR M'CUTCHEON

Toward evening, after many consultations and countless reports, Marlanx removed his headquarters to the tower. He had fondly hoped to be in the castle long before this.

The cells and dungeons in the great old tower were now occupied by bruised, defeated officers of the law. Baron Jasto Dangloss, crushed in spirit and broken of body, paced the blackest and narrowest cell of them all.

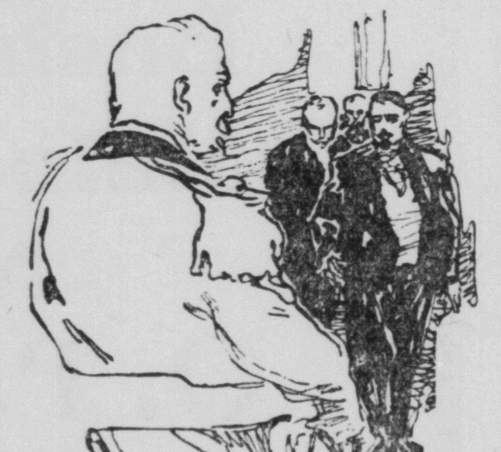
At 9 o'clock on Sunday morning a small group of people gathered in the square. A meeting was soon in progress. A goods box stood over against the very spot on which Olga Platanova died. An old man began haranguing the constantly growing crowd. In the group might have been seen most members of the committee of ten.

In the midst of his harangue the hand of William Spantz was arrested in one of its most emphatic gestures.

Peter Brutus was approaching at the head of a group of aliens, all armed.

"One moment!" called out Peter Brutus, lifting his hand imperatively. The speaker ceased his mouthings. "Count Marlanx desires the immediate presence of the following citizens at his office in the tower. I shall call off the names." He began with William Spantz. The name of each of his associates in the committee of ten followed.

Ten minutes later every member of the committee of ten, except Peter Brutus, was behind lock and bar, together with their shivering associates, all of them dumbly muttering to themselves the awful sentence that Marlanx had passed upon them.



"YOU ARE TO DIE AT SUNSET."

"You are to die at sunset. Graustark still knows how to punish assassins. There is no room in Graustark for anarchy. I shall wipe it out today."

"Sir, your promise!" gasped William Spantz. "We are your friends—the true party of"—

"Enough! Do not speak again! Captain Brutus, you will send criers abroad to notify the citizens that I, Count Marlanx, have ordered the execution of the ringleaders in the plot to dynamite the prince, at sunset in the square. Away with the carrion!"

Then it was, and not till then, that the committee of ten found him out! Then it was that they came to know Peter Brutus!

The unrecognizable corpse of Olga Platanova had been buried in quicklime outside the city walls. There was something distinctly grewsome in the fact that half a dozen deep graves were dug alongside hers hours before death came to the wretches who were to occupy them.

At 3 o'clock the Iron Count coolly sent messengers to the homes of the leading merchants and bankers of the city. They, with the priests, the doctors, the municipal officers and the manufacturers, were commanded to appear before him at 5 o'clock for the purpose of discussing the welfare of the city and its people.

Marlanx stated his position clearly. He left no room for doubt in their minds. The strings were in his hands. Without hesitation he informed the leading men of the city that he was to be the Prince of Graustark.

"I will rule Graustark or destroy her. Those of you who do not expect or desire to live under my rule, which, I promise you, shall be a wise one, may leave the city for other lands," he said calmly, "just as soon as my deputies have completed the formal transfer of all your belongings to the crown treasury—all, I say, even to the minutest trifle. Permit me to add in that connection, gentlemen, the transfer will not be a prolonged affair."

They glared back at him and subsided into bitter silence.

"I am well aware that you love little Prince Robin. Now, respecting young master Robin, I have no great desire to kill him."

He waited to see the effect of this brutal announcement. His hearers stiffened, and—yes, they held their breath.

"He has one alternative—he and his lords. I trust that you, as sensible gentlemen, will find the means to convey to him your advice that he seize the opportunity I shall offer him to escape with his life. Let me interrupt myself to call to your attention the fact that I am punishing the anarchists at sunset. To resume, the boy may return to America, where he belongs. I will give him free and safe escort to the United States. If he chooses to accept my kindly terms, all well and good; if not, gentlemen, I shall starve him out or blow the castle down. It may interest you to hear that I expect to establish a new nobility in Graustark. I trust I may now be addressing at least a few of the future noble lords of Graustark. Good day, gentlemen."

At the castle the deepest gloom prevailed. It was like a nightmare to the beleaguered household, a dream from which there seemed to be no awakening. Colonel Quinnox as commander of the royal guard ruled supreme. General Braze tore off his own epaulets and presented himself to Quinnox as a soldier of the file.

Prince Robin, quite recovered from his fright, donned the uniform of a colonel of the royal dragoons, buckled on his jeweled sword and, with boyish zeal, demanded at a council of war Colonel Quinnox's reasons for not going forth to slay the rioters.

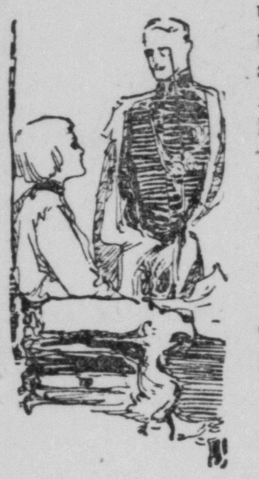
"Your highness," said the colonel bitterly, "the real army is outside the walls, not inside. We are a pitiful handful, less than 300 men all told, counting the wounded. Count Marlanx heads an army of several thousand. He"—

"He wants to get in here so's he can kill me. Is that so, Colonel Quinnox?" The prince was very pale, but quite calm.

"Oh, I wouldn't put it just that way, your"—

"Oh, I know! You can't fool me! I've always known that he wants to kill me. But how can he? Nobody can. He ought to know that. He must be awful stupid."

"We must get word to Tullis!" cried several in a breath. A dozen men volunteered to risk their lives in the attempt to find the American in the hills. Two men were chosen—by lot. They were to venture forth that very night.



"HE'S SAFE, YOUR HIGHNESS."

"My lords," said the prince as the council was on the point of dissolving, "is it all right for me to ask a question now?"

"Certainly, Robin," said the prime minister.

"Well, I'd like to know where Mr. King is."

"He's safe, your highness," said Quinnox.

"Well, you run in and tell Aunt Loraine this minute that Mr. King sends his love to her and begs her to rest easy. See if it doesn't cheer her up a bit."

At night two attempts were made by Haddan and another subaltern to leave the castle to reach Tullis, but both sorties proved failures. A day later Marlanx sent two men under a flag of truce to offer his infamous ultimatum. His offer of a safe conduct of the prince to America was refused, for the inmates of the castle knew full well the count would doom the lad to instant death if he should get him in his possession.

A single distant volley at sunset had puzzled the men on guard at the castle. They had no means of knowing that the committee of ten and its wretched friends had been shot down like dogs in the public square. Peter Brutus was in charge of the squad of executioners.

Tell Some Sick One

It Is Free If It Fails.

Will you do an act of Humanity?

Will you tell some sick friend of this, my remarkable offer?

Tell him or her, that you have learned of a medicine so certain that its maker dare say to the sick, "It is absolutely and unconditionally free if it fails."

And you, no doubt, already know of Dr. Shoop's Restorative and its popularity.

For 20 years it has been the standard remedy for Stomach, Kidney and Heart ailments everywhere in America.

When the "inside" or controlling nerves of these vital organs begin to fail, it is Dr. Shoop's Restorative that has quickly vitalized, and strengthened, and brought these nerves and organs back to health again.

I do not dose the Stomach, nor stimulate the Heart or Kidneys—for that is all wrong.

Dr. Shoop's Restorative goes direct to the cause of these ailments—the failing, faltering, inside or controlling nerves. And herein lies the keynote to my success.

When these nerves are again made well and strong, then that is the certain end of all such sickness.

To me it is a great satisfaction that I am the only physician able to say to the suffering sick, "Take my prescription for full 30 days, and if it fails to help you, the entire expense is mine—not yours."

Then why should the sick take any chance on any other medicine, whose maker dare not back it just as I do by this remarkable offer?

I also have a Rheumatic Remedy—and that remedy is covered by the same identical "No help, no pay" protective plan.

Besides, you are free to consult me just as you would your home physician. My advice and the book below are yours—and without cost.

Perhaps a word or two from me will clear up some serious ailment. I have helped thousands upon thousands by my private prescription or personal advice plan. My best effort is surely worth your simple request.

So let me send you an order at once. Take the message to some sick friend.

A postal will bring the opportunity.

I will have an honest and trustworthy druggist to whom you can conveniently go for the 30 day test.

But first, ask me for the order, for all druggists are not authorized to give the 30 day test.

So write me now and save all delays. Remember that tomorrow never comes. Address Dr. Shoop, Box 12, Racine, Wis.

REAPING BENEFIT

From the Experience of Rushville People.

We are fortunate indeed to be able to profit by the experience of our neighbors. The public utterances of Rushville residents on the following subject will interest and benefit thousands of our readers. Read this statement. No better proof can be had.

Mrs. W. A. Wylie, 824 North Arthur street, Rushville, Ind., says: "Doan's Kidney Pills have been used in our family and we have found them to be a splendid remedy for kidney complaint. A member of our family suffered from attacks of backache for several years, the trouble being caused by disordered kidneys. Doan's Kidney Pills were brought to our attention and thinking they might prove of benefit, we procured a supply at F. B. Johnson & Co.'s Drug Store. The use of two boxes of this remedy entirely relieved the backache and strengthened the kidneys. I publicly recommended Doan's Kidney Pills at that time and I still take pleasure in saying a good word for them."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

A Physician's Faith in Tuberculosis Medicine

"Have used it in several cases of tubercular glands of the neck, with excellent results every time. In one case it cost me $50, for the girl was put on it only until she could arrange to be operated, and in a wee, short time an operation was not needed. I suppose your records are just as fine as of old. You know my faith in the medicine."

Eckman's Alterative is the "medicine" referred to. Original of above letter on file at office of Eckman Mfg. Co., Philadelphia.

Eckman's Alterative is good for all Throat and Lung troubles, and is on sale in Rushville at Lytle's Drug Store and other Druggists. It can also be obtained at, or procured by, your local Druggists. Ask for Booklet of Cured Cases or write for Evidence to the Eckman Laboratory, Philadelphia, Pa.

GURNEY COHEE,
33t10 City Treasurer.

The old fashioned way of dosing a weak stomach, or stimulating the Heart or Kidneys is all wrong. Dr. Shoop first pointed out this error. This is why his prescription—Dr. Shoop's Restorative—is directed entirely to the cause of these ailments—the weak inside or controlling nerves. It isn't so different, says Dr. Shoop, to strengthen a weak Stomach, Heart, or Kidneys, if one goes at it correctly. Each inside organ has its controlling or inside nerve. When these nerves fail, then those organs must surely falter. These vital truths are leading druggists everywhere to dispense and recommend Dr. Shoop's Restorative. Test it a few days, and see! Improvement will promptly and surely follow. Sold by Frank E. Wolcott.

LIGHTNING BOLT STRIKES A BARN

Structure on the Farm of Frank Mull Near Manilla is Slightly Damaged.

STORM SEVERE OVER COUNTY

A severe electrical storm passed over the county Sunday afternoon. The storm seems to have been general over the county and was especially heavy in the southern part. Torrents of rain feel making the ground too wet for farmers to work today. Several automobile parties were caught out in the storm, but managed to escape with nothing more severe than a good soaking.

The barn on the Frank Mull farm, three miles northeast of Manilla, was struck by lightning. Fortunately all of the stock was out of the barn at the time and the damage was slight. The stroke did not fire the building. Several large trees were splintered by the lightning.

ICE SUPPLY IS EXHAUSTED

Car Load Imported Because of a Break Down at Local Plant.

The ice plant at the Innis, Pearce & Company factory has been out of commission for several days because of a break down in the machinery. Repairs have been practically completed, however, and the plant will be running at full capacity in a short time. The reserve supply of ice in the cold storage room has been exhausted, and the company shipped in a car of ice from New Castle this morning.

It is estimated that the coal mines already developed contain enough coal to supply the world for a thousand years.

TO GO TO DECATUR FOR JOINT MEETING

The Commissioners Will Journey to Greensburg Tomorrow to Consider County Line Road.

THE REGULAR MEETING TODAY

The county board of commissioners held their regular monthly meeting in the court house today. Nothing other than the usual business was transacted today. Several claims were allowed and several other matters of minor importance were attended to. The commissioners did not convene until noon on account of the inability of one of the members to get to the city.

The commissioners plan to go to Greensburg tomorrow for a joint meeting with the Decatur county commissioners. The joint meeting will be held to consider the construction of a county-line road. The commissioners have been there twice before in a joint meeting, but so far have been unable to accomplish anything.

DIES AT COUNTY HOSPITAL

Onley Parker Expires of Paralysis After Long Illness.

Onley Parker, died at the county hospital this morning at 12:30 o'clock following a long illness with paralysis. He has been afflicted for a number of years and no hope was entertained for his recovery. He was 53 years old. He was formerly a farmer.

The city of Wallsee, on the Danube in lower Austria, once famous and wealthy because of its millstone industry, has just seen its glory completely fade away through the closing of its last millstone concern.

The cigar tobacco is grown mostly in New England, Pennsylvania, Ohio and Wisconsin, though there is a considerable and rapidly increasing production of this type in Georgia, Florida and Texas.

HENRY COUNTY FARMERS OBJECT

Will Remonstrate Against the Dredging of Flatrock River in This County.

MEETINGS ARE BEING HELD

New Castle Papers Says That Farmers Are Fast Signing the Remonstrances.

People all over the eastern part of Henry county are agitated over the proposition to dredge Flatrock, says the New Castle Times. The matter originated in Rush county a few weeks ago, when a number of Rush county people filed a petition in the circuit court asking that Flatrock be dredged from Rushville north to the Henry county line.

Notices have been sent to farmers of the eastern part of Henry county notifying them that the petitioners claim the right to assess every one whose lands drain into Flatrosk. It is claimed that if the court goes ahead and orders the drain established that the Rush county commissioners will then have the power to order the dredging done and proceed to assess the lands in the entire water shed, which would take in all the lands up to the head of the stream and all its tributaries. It is said that the lands of 3000 people would be affected in this way.

Various meetings are being held by the farmers and others interested throughout Rush and Henry counties. Remonstrances are being gotten up and signed freely. A meeting of this kind was held at Ashland on Thursday evening and another was scheduled to be held on Friday evening in the Rich Square neighborhood. It is figured that it will take a remonstrance signed by at least 2000 people to beat it, and this is going to take an immense lot of hard work to get so many names on a petition.

A number of Henry county people interested have consulted Judge Forkner in the matter and he may appear for them along with several Rush county attorneys who have been engaged to put up a fight. The hearing will come up within the next fifteen or twenty days and the time is short for working up such an immense remonstrance.

Cheering Up a Town

The Board of Trade of Gloucester, Mass., has adopted a creed which all its citizens are asked to subscribe to. The specific points involved will apply to Rushville, and the sentiment is worthy of all interested in the growth of this city. The creed contains the following essential:

I believe in Gloucester, her people and her interests.

I believe in her natural beauties and attractions.

I believe in industrial development for Gloucester and in pushing for such advance now.

I believe that every dollar spent for good roads will bring many dollars worth of taxable property into the city. Dollars for the mechanics, the hotels and the merchants.

I believe that when I spend a dollar out of town that I could spend in Gloucester I am doing my city an injury.

I believe in commending and not condemning. If I can only help, by my voice, I will give that help or keep quiet.

I believe in a bright future for my city as I know her illustrious past.

So believing, I shall spend my dollar in Gloucester, where I may get it back as it rolls along.

PROMISES FAIR WEATHER IN MAY

Predicted That Month Will be Much More Pleansant Than the One Preceeding.

APRIL WAS A VERY FICKLE ONE

Only Six Clear Days During the Total Thirty and Two Bad Frosts.

The general prediction of the weather man for the month of May is fair with normal temperature and storms. May promises to be a much more pleasant month than the one preceeding:

While the weather of April was remarkable in many respects, no records were broken at the Indianapolis Weather Bureau. The 27-degree minimum temperature April 23 failed by 8 degrees of reaching the low mark for the same month of other years, as on the 17th, in 1875, the thermometers registered 19 degrees. The 83 degrees on Friday, which was the high mark for the month just closed, lacked 4 degrees of reaching the top notch of April temperature, the record of 87 degrees having been made on the 16th, in 1896. As for precipitation, the greatest amount in an April since 1871 fell in 1893, being 8.6 inches.

This year the precipitation was 2.22 inches. The normal for the month is 3.4 inches, making the deficiency for the month forty-eight hundredths of an inch. The accumulated deficiency in rainfall since January 1 is 3.46 inches, or practically 25 per cent less than normal.

The prevailing winds of the month were from the southwest, and the greatest speed attained by the breezes was forty-eight miles an hour from the south on the 5th. There were six clear days during the month, ten partly cloudy and fourteen entirely cloudy. Thunderstorms raged on the 3d, the 16th and 22d. There was a light frost on the 21st and a killing frost on the 24th. The average temperature for the month was 52.8 degrees, or four-tenths of a degree above normal.

The month of April opened unusually warm, but with cloudy skies. The 6th and 7th were much colder, and from the 7th to the 10th the days were clear. From the 7th until the 14th there was no trace of precipitation and, aside from the two days mentioned, the temperature remained high until the 17th, when it fell off. Until last Thursday it remained very chilly, and during that period the minimum of the month was reached. With the single exception of the 21st there was not a clear day in April after the 10th.

GOLD MEDAL FLOUR

A ROYAL WEDDING.

Prince Narihisa, Who Will Wed Mikado's Daughter.

Tokio, May 2.—Official announcement has been made of the marriage engagement of Princess Nobuko Fumi-No-Miya, the third surviving daughter of the emperor and empress, and Prince Narihisa. The nuptials will be solemnized on May 6. The princess was born Aug. 7, 1891.

PRESIDENT TAFT IS AT BALL GAME TODAY

Much Interested at Meeting of Pirates and Cubs.

Pittsburg, May 2.—There was not any speed limit in Pittsburg Sunday. For two hours President Taft, with Captain Butt and a fleet of convoying cops and reporters, whizzed through the city, crossed the Allegheny river, shot through little suburbs and over rutty, dusty roads. At the end of the ride the president looked back at four panting touring cars and laughed in glee. On every car except the one in which he rode the dust was a good inch thick and cops peered out at him from faces covered with grime.

The ride came late in the afternoon, after Mr. Taft had spent a forenoon at the residence of Mrs. Taft's sister, Mrs. Thomas McK. Laughlin. He took breakfast there, went to the First Unitarian church to attend divine worship, and returned for lunch at the Laughlin's.

After lunch the president wanted a long ride through the country in the brilliant sunshine. They brought over a big sixty-horsepower car that looked equal to seventy miles an hour. The speed meter said that car never went over twenty-two miles an hour, the cops admitted it might have reached thirty-six, but those who came last and almost got lost, thought it was a good fifty at times.

Although Mr. Taft attended the Founders' day celebration at Carnegie institute today and will say a few things about international affairs at the banquet of the Americus club tonight, the big event of the day in the eyes of Pittsburg is the ball game between the Pirates and the Chicago Cubs this afternoon. The president wants to see "Hans" Wagner, the greatest of the Pirates, at the bat, but since C. P. Taft owns the Cubs, he has not decided which team he will root for.

OLD MAN WESTON ENDS LONG HIKE

Was Given Great Reception at New York Today.

Yonkers, N. Y., May 2.—Because Edward P. Weston, the aged long-distance pedestrian, started his walk from Santa Monico, the seaport of Los Angeles, at 4 p. m., he was anxious to reach the city hall, New York, surely before that hour. He left the Getty House at Yonkers at 7 o'clock this morning with two mounted policemen as escort. Kings Bridge was reached by 8:30, and when he got within the city limits his course was down Broadway. He stopped at Seventy-second street about 12:30 for a light meal at the Ansonia while the bands and the rest of the make-up of the parade were being mobilized. John McCullagh, ex-chief of police, was among the many who accompanied him down-town, and Mrs. Anna Hagan, the old man's daughter, followed him from Seventy-second street in an antomobile. Mayor Gaynor received him on the steps of the city hall.

The mayor presented Weston with a public prize which had been collected by several prominent men as a testimonial of their admiration for his achievement. There was a reception in the mayor's reception room after the speech outside, and then Mr. Weston went to his hotel.

End of World Not Sudden

Credulous individuals who are always fearful that some of the ends of the world predicted by sensational phophets may prove to be true, will find considerable comfort in the assertion of Prof. Lowell that there is good scientific evidence for the belief that mankind will have many years' warning of the great catastrophe that is destined to put an end to all things on this planet.

According to Prof. Lowell's statements, there is somewhere within the remote confines of space a great mass of matter—once a world, but now dead—that is hurling itself toward our sun. In time it is certain to reach the goal to which it is tending, and when the two come together the globe on which we live is destined to cease to exist.

Fortunately for our peace of mind, there is, at the present moment, no such dead world within dangerous proximity, and yet any day it may appear—any day the morning papers may announce that one of these dark bodies has come within reach of the telescope—that it may readily be seen by the light of the sun reflecting upon it.

While it would then be certain that the end of the world was in sight, there would still be ample time in which to prepare for the inevitable. If the first view of the intruder was caught at the eleventh magnitude it could scarcely come much nearer without being defected—it would not be until twenty-seven years later that it would become visible to the naked eye, and three years more would elapse before it appeared to us as equal in size to a first-magnitude star. In two years and three months more it would have come as near to us as Jupiter, and by that time it would be far the brightest star in the sky. In fact, its effect upon the world would already be felt. Our seasons would change, and the days would grow longer. Finally, just 145 days later, these who were still alive would witness the beginning of the end. The stranger would not strike the earth, but would pass so close in its dash to the sun that the earth would turn and follow until, together, they would drop silently into the sun.
